MEDICAL, HEALTH & SOCIAL CARE ACADEMY

INTRODUCTION

Medical, Health & Social Care Academy

The MHSC Academy was established in July 2015 between St Mary's College 6th Form (SM6) and NHS Hull Clinical Commissioning Group, in order to support local students onto NHS and Social Care career pathways. The MHSC Academy Programme is designed to run alongside normal 6th Form studies. The aim is to provide students from the local area, with a high quality enrichment programme that helps progress their ambitions across the broad and diverse range of NHS careers such as medicine, nursing, allied health and social care and direct patient care. The MHSC Academy will help students to select the right educational qualifications and also provide essential work experience and industry enrichment, delivered by NHS Partners, to prepare them for the workplace or further studies.

WELCOME

Ged Fitzpatrick, Executive Headteacher at St Mary's College, is proud to introduce the country's first Medical, Health & Social Care Academy to all prospective students.

"As the area's leading 6th Form provider, we are thrilled to be delivering this important and innovative project for the city with our partners at NHS Hull CCG. Students who join the MHSC Academy benefit from an unprecedented level of guidance, training and support from NHS professionals and this is all available alongside our outstanding 6th form educational offer and state-of-the-art facilities. The MHSC Programme is of the highest quality to ensure that our students are successful in their ambitions to have careers in the NHS and Social Care."

Emma Latimer, Chief Officer, of NHS Hull Clinical Commissioning Group, said:

"Hull's new Medical, Health & Social Care Academy at St Mary's College is one of the most exciting projects to come from the Hull 2020 programme.

We want our next generation to lead healthier, more fulfilled lives with great long-term career prospects. To do this we need to link in with colleges and academies to develop the skills we need within the city for our future workforce.

We are therefore delighted to be working with such a forward-thinking college like St Mary's. The new Academy is able to offer a unique mix of specialist teaching, training and work experience for students interested in a medical, health or social care career path.

There are many different roles across the NHS and Social Care to choose from, and all are needed and valued in the community. It's not just about doctors and nurses - we need dedicated midwives, therapists, mental health professionals, health visitors, paramedics, theatre assistants, social workers - and even health commissioners planning the services people in the city need now and in the future!

We hope that the content of this prospectus inspires you to study and learn at the Hull Medical, Health and Social Care Academy. It's the first step of a fantastic and rewarding career!"

ST MARY'S COLLEGE MISSION

“Love God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind and with all your strength and love your neighbour as you love yourself”
(Mk 12:30-31)

SM6 exists to help parents and carers educate young people spiritually, morally, socially and culturally.

We want our students to enjoy their learning and to rise to the challenge, aim high and reap the rewards of success. We think that our mission is well aligned to NHS Values and we are confident that our pastoral care promotes an ethos that will prepare our students to take these values forward into the world of work.

NHS VALUES

The NHS was created out of the ideal that good healthcare should be available to all, regardless of wealth. When it was launched on July 5 1948, it was based on three core principles:

- that it met the needs of everyone
- that it was free at the point of delivery
- that it was based on clinical need, not ability to pay

These three principles have guided the development of the NHS over more than 70 years and remain at its core.

NHS values provide common ground for co-operation to achieve shared aspirations, at all levels of the NHS. The NHS Constitution published in 2015 identified six main values:

1. Working together for patients

Patients come first in everything we do. We fully involve patients, staff, families, carers, communities, and professionals inside and outside the NHS. We put the needs of patients and communities before organisational boundaries. We speak up when things go wrong.

2. Respect and dignity

We value every person – whether patient, their families or carers, or staff – as an individual, respect their aspirations and commitments in life, and seek to understand their priorities, needs, abilities and limits. We take what others have to say seriously. We are honest and open about our point of view and what we can and cannot do.

3. Commitment to quality of care

We earn the trust placed in us by insisting on quality and striving to get the basics of quality of care – safety, effectiveness and patient experience – right every time. We encourage and welcome feedback from patients, families, carers, staff and the public. We use this to improve the care we provide and build on our successes.

4. Compassion

We ensure that compassion is central to the care we provide and respond with humanity and kindness to each person's pain, distress, anxiety or need. We search for the things we can do, however small, to give comfort and relieve suffering. We find time for patients, their families and carers, as well as those we work alongside. We do not wait to be asked, because we care.

5. Improving lives

We strive to improve health and wellbeing and people's experiences of the NHS. We cherish excellence and professionalism wherever we find it – in the everyday things that make people's lives better as much as in clinical practice, service improvements and innovation. We recognise that all have a part to play in making ourselves, patients and our communities healthier.

6. Everyone counts

We maximise our resources for the benefit of the whole community, and make sure nobody is excluded, discriminated against or left behind. We accept that some people need more help, that difficult decisions have to be taken – and that when we waste resources we waste opportunities for others.

Hull University - Faculty of Health and Social Care

 The University of Hull, through the Faculty of Health and Social Care, provides education across the fields of nursing, midwifery and operating department practice; working in conjunction with health providers they also educate associate practitioners, clinical psychologists and physician's associates. The faculty are delighted to be an integral partner with St Mary's MHSC Academy.

Students from the Academy have access to bespoke sessions delivered by staff from the university in the clinical skills suite at the university. They also benefit from close links to academic advice regarding their chosen profession and making an application to university. These links with the university include having access to on campus facilities such as the library.

Hull York Medical School

 Hull York Medical School is delighted to be working with St Mary's College on the Medical, Health and Social Care Academy. This initiative to encourage more young people to consider a career in the Healthcare professions is vital in a city like Hull which is facing significant shortages in the workforce.

MHSC ACADEMY PARTNERS

Hull City Council

Hull City Council believes that it is vital to engage with our young people to ensure that the City and the people of Hull thrive in the future. We are supporting the Academy through joint working, placements and mentorship as we are keen to be part of developing the workforce of the future.

Adult social care in Hull is committed to supporting people to “Have a Life and not a Service.” We want to work with young people to build a workforce committed to prevention of ill health and maintaining independence and wellbeing for as long as possible.

Children’s social care in Hull is committed to creating a service in which the conditions for outstanding practice are assured and the best outcomes for children and families are achieved. A skilled and confident workforce is key to achieving the best outcomes and keeping children and young people at the centre of our practice. We are keen to support the development of young people who may, in the future, choose a career in children’s social care.

Humberside Police

Our work with the Academy is important in helping to promote positive lifestyles and build relationships between Humberside Police and young people.

We work within the school and wider community to deliver positive messages and are a key part of school life.

We promote three key projects engaging with young people operating across the force area namely, Lifestyle, which has now been running for almost 30 years, Night Challenge and Rock Challenge. All are aimed at helping us engage with young people in a positive way and forge relationships with them that last into their adult lives.

Humberside Police are part of the wider partnership and we work extensively towards putting people at the heart of what we do to make the Humber region a safer environment to live in.

Humberside Fire and Rescue

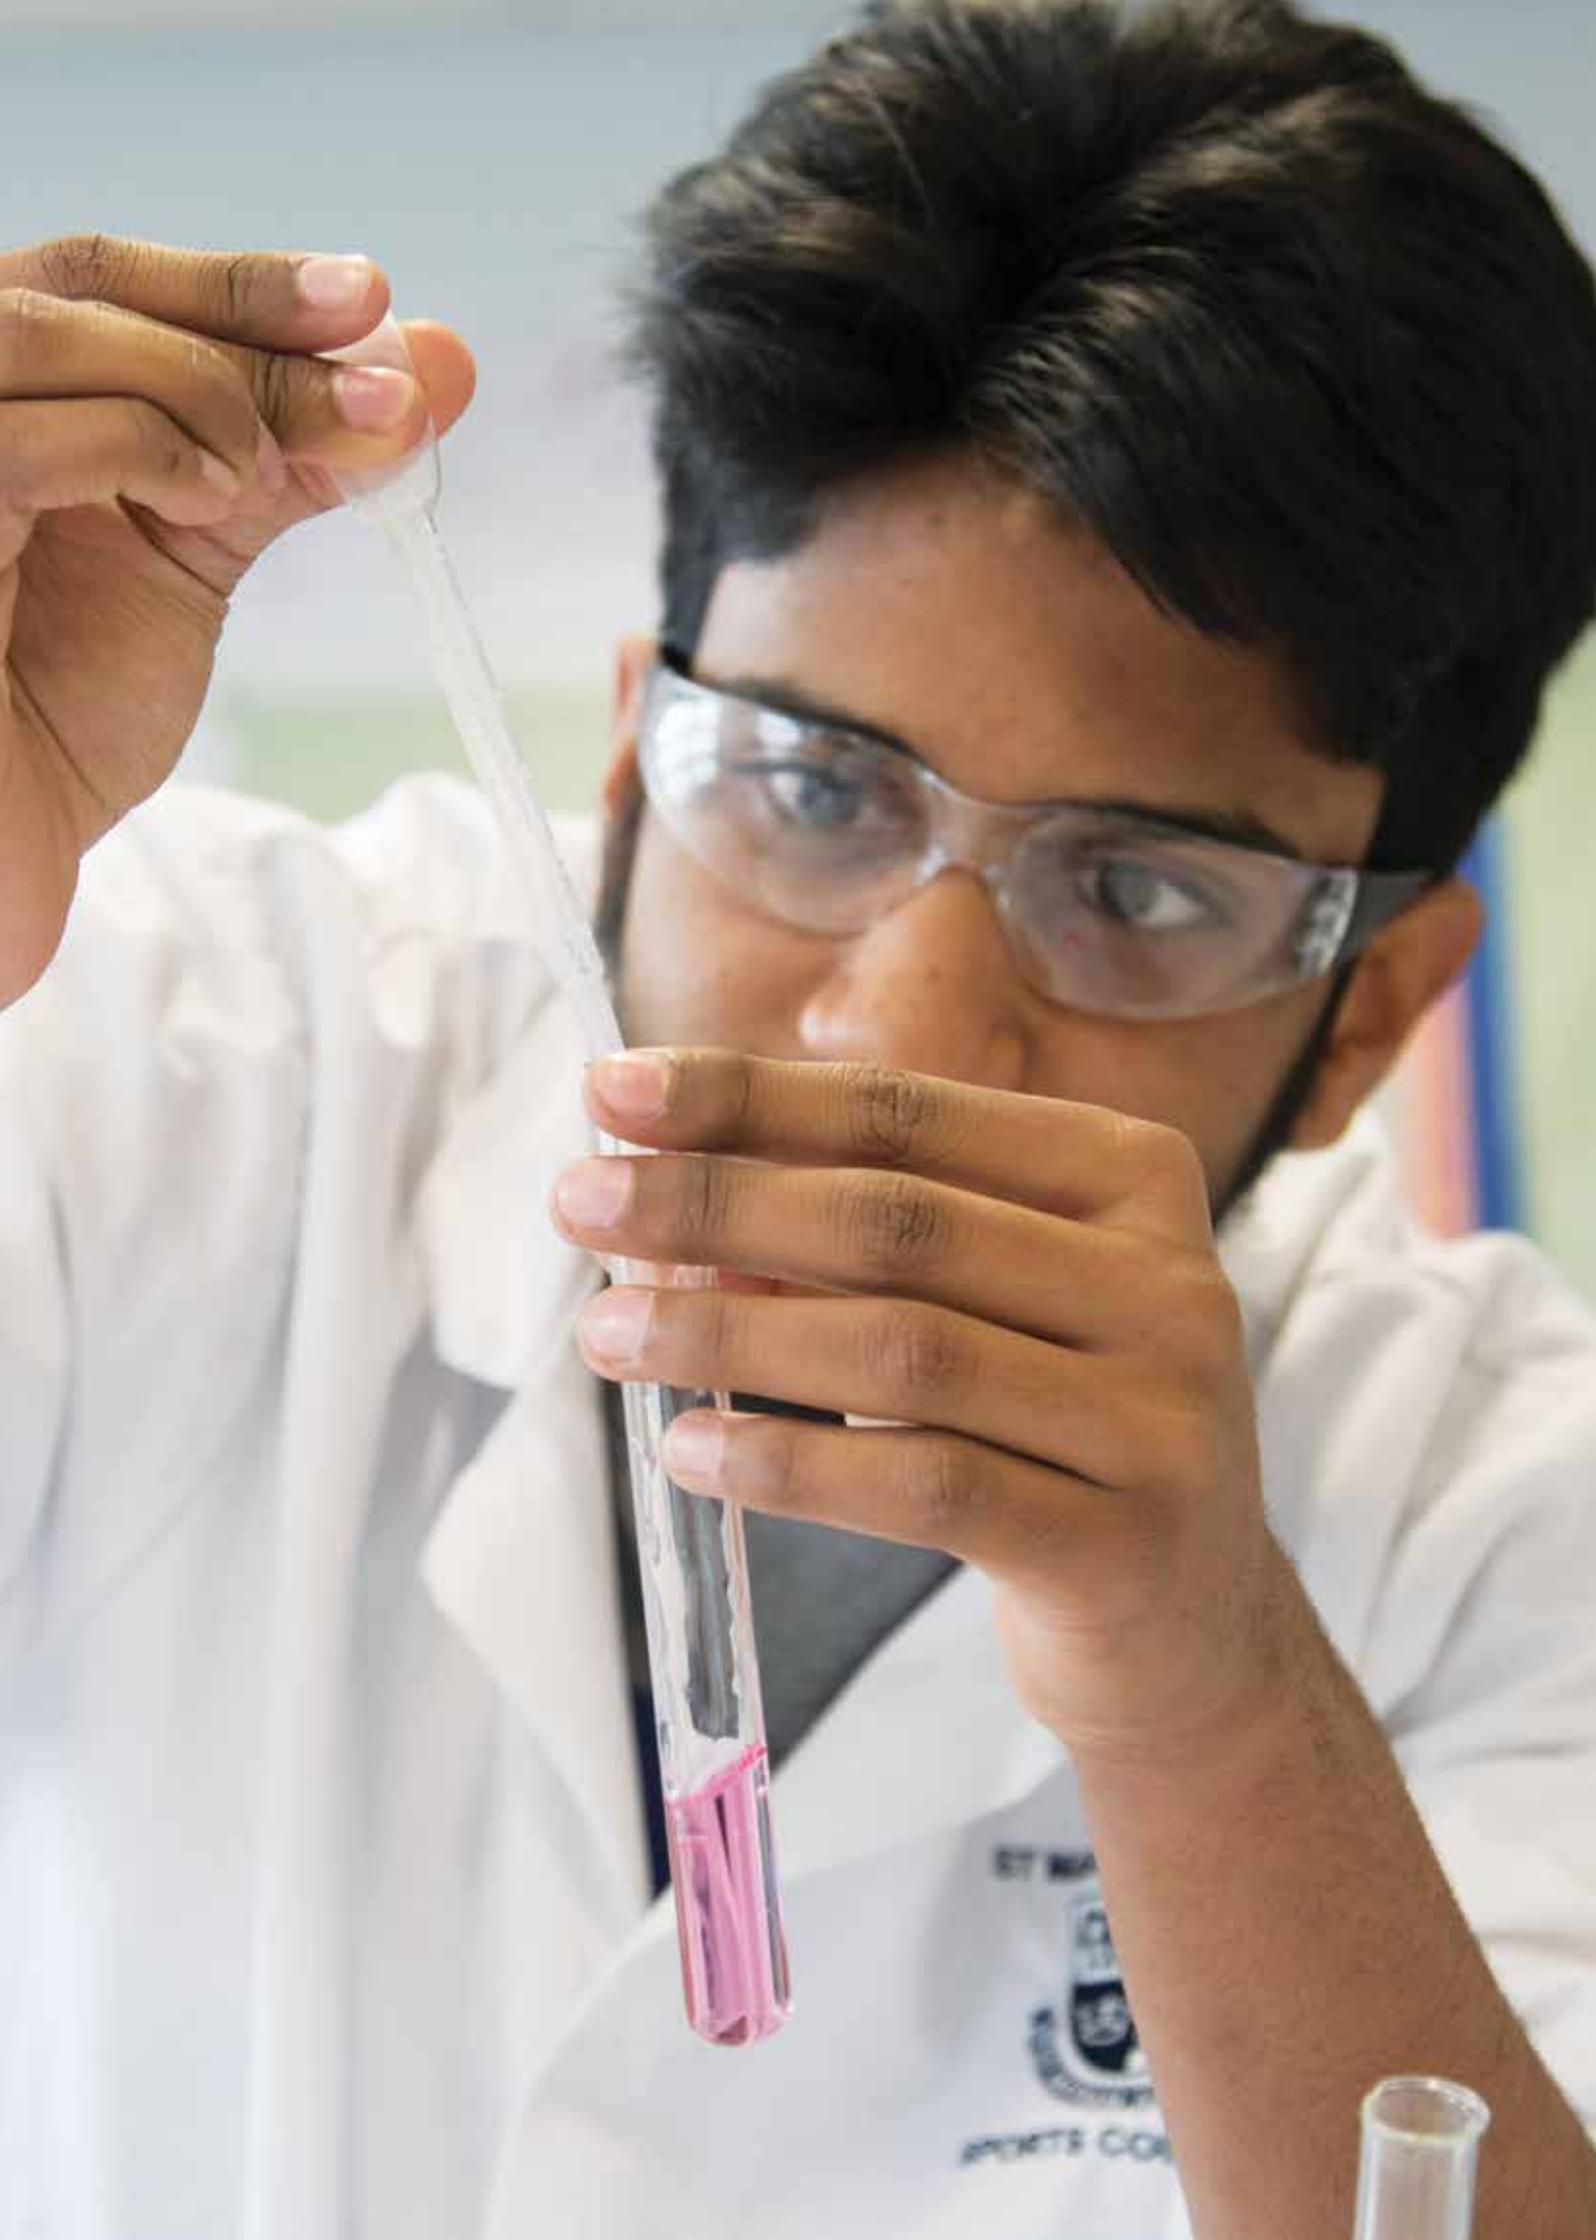

Humberside Fire and Rescue is a key player in Hull 2020 and we were delighted to be one of the nine original partners who set out to transform public services in Hull.

As an organisation, we have become increasingly involved in health issues having worked with frail and vulnerable people for many years whilst carrying out home fire safety visits. More initiatives have followed with our health partners, such as the falls response team and Emergency First Responder teams in Hull.

I envisage even closer working with local health bodies in the future and the Academy at St Mary’s College will ensure that the city has both the emergency response and vital after care services the people of Hull deserve.
